A WORD ABOUT PLOWER.

Now that the fight Is over and the victory won we do not hear any more complaints of the lack of seal and so tion on the part of the Democratic Congressional Committee. The tendency to find fault is always active during a campalen. Usually the fault. finders are those who can find nothing else to do.

It occurs to us that it is only proper now to seknowledge the valuable services rendered his party by Chairman Flowen. The fact is that Mr. Plowen is a man of high ability. He is not only a successful financier, but, as a politician, he has displayed great tact and diplomacy. He deserves well of his party, and it could easily do much worse than to send him to the Senate. or elect him Governor of his State.

THE NAVY'S CHIEF CONSTRUC TOR

On the 15th of next December the term of Chief Naval Constructor Tirgo BORE D. Wilson will expire. Theser vice has never had a more capable Chief. Constructor than Commodore Wilson. Yet his retention in that position is regarded as practically out of the question because Secretary Triacity, when first appeinted, adopted a rule not to give lumum chiefe a third term. Commo dote Wilson has now served two ter as of four years cach, and would be under this rule is billied from holding the

Should the Secretary to actude to enfator the suit in regard to this office it is more than likely that Commodore Wilson's successor will be Constructor PRILLIP HICKNEYS, who is now Commodere Wilson's immediate assistant. His promotion to the objefship, in the event of the retirement of the present whitef under the operation of the rule referred to, would be but natural and to accord with the precedents of the naval service. Constructor Highmony has been | Thomas sto intrusted with a great many fun-pertant infesions by former sec-back from Snodgrass Hill. Upon the bowlder will be inscribed these words returies, and is rated as a first class man only: in all ways. He has made an enviable of Chickumanga." record by the aid he has given in the building of the new Navy. He understands there: duties of a shipbuilder. Some of his works, such as his report on foreign docks and dockyards, are regarded as authorities upon the subjects of which they treat. He is now in the very prime of life, full of mental and hodlly vigor, and is highly esteemed by Secretary THACEY. Moreover, he is one of the most comittous gentlemen in any branch of the public service.

If Commodore Wilson be not reappointed, Constructor Hichmony should be made the chief.

LET CONGRESS ACT.

General Davin B. McKinnin, who died last Saturday, was horne upon the rolls of the Army as a major, retired. He had spent most of his life in the Regular Army. Continuously from 1855, when he was appointed a second Reutenant in the Ninth Infantry, he had worn the uniform. His services during the civil war as colonel of a Pennsylvania volunteer regiment and as a brigade commander were gallant and conspicuous. He was three threes wounded. He was retired, necesse of clearlility incurred in the line of duty, on May 31, 1975.

Application was made by the friends of the gallant dead soldier for the usual military futteral escort, that he might be buried with the honors befitting his rank and services. Answer was made by the General Commanding the Army that he could find neither law nor regulation authorizing him to order such a

We do not question the correctness of the General Commanding's' decision, under the laws and articles of war, but we do question the laws and articles which accessitate such a decision. We hold that the law should not only permit but require military honors to be paid to deceased officers upon the retired list as well as to those on the active list. Under the law as it now stands, provided the interpretation of the General Commanding be correct, Conserul Supremas would be denied a functal secort from the Regular Arms, Congressional action should remedy our State high up in the procession. the matter at the coming assiste.
